As you all know, I started a romance between Tin-Tin and Brains. Now, if any of you would like to write about that, please feel free to do so.

I have one request. Since Tin-Tin has been burned twice recently (by Alan and by Giles), she would naturally be cautious about how fast this relationship goes. And Brains, being surprised by this (as well as being so busy), would also go slowly. So please write this with those things in mind. Take it slow and easy, and be somewhat subtle about any displays of affection between them.
