While chatting with Shirley, a crazy idea popped into my head. What magazine(s) would your character read?

Magazines come and go - and some stay around forever. But what new magazine titles do you think would show up, and what would they have in them to interest your character?

This could be a work-related magazine, or one for leisure reading. Or both. It could be fun, coming up with a new title or two, and perhaps even articles that could be found within.
