I know I'd established that Dianne was supposed to have done some training in that area--despite her insistence that she doesn't "do" space. Not sure if we established that the others had. I know we have five of the canon characters who can work in space, possibly six if we count Virgil (who manned TB5 once in the series, IIRC). I'll leave it up to y'all if someone else needs to be trained or if you want your own characters to have some training.
