Because my MySQL quota is way out of line, I've had to do some clean up to try and bring it down. The easiest part of this particular database to remove were the original files with all the profiles, dolls, timeline, rules, etc. So that's gone and the site is basically this forum. Nothing is really lost; I downloaded it all in .zip files for future use.

Sad to remove it but this has always been the heart of the site anyway.

Poke me if you have questions.
