Just so's y'all know, spammers, all accounts on here are by mod approval ONLY. So, when we get the notification, I (or one of the other admins) comes tootling along and bans your sorry ass before you can post a single syllable... sometimes even before you can confirm your email address!

We also use IP bans. So fascinating to realize someone claiming to be from Virginia has an IP address in Russia when they register, and then a totally different one in Argentina if they manage to confirm their email. Regardless of how many IPs you use, they'll all go on the ban list.

In summary, we know who you are and why you register. You won't get a foothold here. My advice? Don't come calling. It's a waste of your time.

Just sayin'...

The admins' mighty banhammer!
